Make it yours: by skin type

The same idea, tuned to your skin. General guidance only.

SKIN TYPE	ADJUST LIKE THIS
Oily / acne-prone	Gel cleanser; light non-comedogenic moisturiser; niacinamide or salicylic acid a few nights a week; matte SPF.
Dry	Cream or milky cleanser; richer ceramide moisturiser; hydrating serum (glycerin / hyaluronic); cream SPF.
Combination	Gentle gel-cream cleanser; lighter moisturiser on the T-zone, richer on dry areas; SPF every morning.
Sensitive	Fragrance-free everything; fewer steps; patch-test new products for 3 days on the jaw; mineral SPF often tolerated better.

INTRODUCE ONE PRODUCT AT A TIME

Wait about two weeks between new products so you know what is helping — or irritating.

CHAPTER 4

The lifestyle side

- Yoga and meditation.
- Mindful eating.
- Real breaks with people you love.

REPORTED DIY

Almond & honey mask

- 1 tbsp finely crushed almonds (or almond flour)
- 1 tsp honey
- Optional: a few drops of milk or water to loosen

Mix to a paste, apply to clean skin for 10 minutes, then rinse with lukewarm water using gentle circles — don't scrub hard. Patch-test on your jaw first.

MORNING / NIGHT CHEAT CARD

MORNING	NIGHT
Cleanse (or rinse)	Remove makeup & SPF
Serum (optional)	Cleanse
Moisturise	Treat (optional)
SPF 30+	Moisturise

CHAPTER 5

Read this first: cautions

- Patch-test every new product or DIY mix on your jaw or inner arm for 24–72 hours.
- Celebrity skin is also shaped by professional facials, make-up artists, lighting and editing — be kind to your own reflection.
- Retinoids and strong acids: avoid during pregnancy unless a doctor approves, and always wear SPF.
- Kitchen ingredients (lemon, raw spices) can irritate; skip them if your skin is sensitive.
- Persistent acne, rashes or pigmentation deserve a dermatologist, not more products.
