About this ebook

Ryan Reynolds' trainer Don Saladino has spoken about how he prepared the actor for his foul-mouthed antihero role. His comments focus less on exotic diets and more on daily movement and sensible carbs.

This ebook is an independent summary of publicly available interviews and articles. It is not affiliated with, authorised or endorsed by Ryan Reynolds, their trainers, representatives, or any film studio. Names are used only to identify whose publicly reported routine is being described. Every reported fact is paraphrased and numbered to its source on the final page. Sections marked Valtair adaptation are our own general suggestions, not the celebrity's plan. This is general information, not medical, nutritional or dermatological advice — check with a qualified professional before changing your diet, training or skincare, especially if you are pregnant, take medication or have a health condition.

What was reported

1. Saladino has worked with Reynolds since 2009 and trained him for all three films in the franchise.[1]

2. Saladino: 'Ryan didn't pound the cardio throughout all three … programmes.' The aim was 10,000–15,000 steps a day.[1]

3. Steady 'zone 2' cardio (around 120–150 bpm) was used, with short HIIT sessions of 5–10 minutes once or twice a week.[1]

4. Scales were used 'once in a blue moon.'[1]

5. Saladino: 'Rest and recovery is huge. Sleep quality is huge. Hydration is huge. Protein is huge.'[1]

6. Saladino told Esquire: 'We introduced carbohydrates and I think that's when his physique changed.' Sweet potato is one of Reynolds' favourite carbs.[2]

7. Men's Health (2017) reported he ate clean, whole foods every two to three hours.[2]

CHAPTER 2

A reported day

No complete daily menu has been published in the sources we used — so we are not inventing one. Below are the reported building blocks and training notes.

Saladino has said 'what Ryan eats or what I eat is irrelevant to anyone else' — no full menu was published.

TRAINING NOTES

- Daily step target: 10,000–15,000.
- Zone 2 steady cardio; HIIT only in small doses (5–10 min, 1–2× a week).

CHAPTER 3

The principles

Strip away the film budget, private chefs and trainers, and the reported approach comes down to a handful of repeatable rules. These are our plain-English take on them:

VALTAIR ADAPTATION

- Walk 8,000–12,000 steps a day — build up slowly.
- Same simple breakfast most days to remove decisions.
- Protein + vegetables at lunch and dinner.
- Fixed bedtime; aim for 7–9 hours of sleep.

PORTION GUIDE (HAND METHOD)

FOOD	PER MEAL
Protein	1–2 palms
Vegetables	1–2 fists
Carbs	1–2 cupped hands
Fats	1–2 thumbs

Smaller or less active? Use the lower number. Larger or training hard? The higher one.

Your 7-day plan

An original, everyday-budget week inspired by the principles — not the celebrity's actual menu. Indian-kitchen friendly; swap freely.

Style: Simple routine week (steps + whole food)

	MORNING	MIDDAY	EVENING
Day 1	Eggs + fruit + toast	Chicken / dal + rice + veg	Paneer / fish + sabzi + roti
Day 2	Eggs + fruit + toast	Rajma + rice + salad	Grilled chicken + veg
Day 3	Eggs + fruit + toast	Chole + 1 bhatura-free roti + salad	Fish curry + rice
Day 4	Eggs + fruit + toast	Chicken wrap + curd	Dal khichdi + veg
Day 5	Eggs + fruit + toast	Paneer bowl + quinoa	Soya / tofu stir-fry
Day 6	Eggs + fruit + toast	Home thali (dal, sabzi, roti, curd)	Grilled fish + salad
Day 7	Relaxed breakfast	Family meal	Light soup + protein

Add vegetables generously. Vegetarian? Use paneer, tofu, soya, dal and curd for protein.

CHAPTER 5

PREP IN 60 MINUTES (SUNDAY)

- Cook a big pot of rice or quinoa and one dal.
- Grill or bake 1 kg of protein; portion into boxes.
- Wash and chop vegetables for 3 days.
- Portion nuts and snacks into small bags.

CHAPTER 6

Read this first: cautions

- Steps are a gentle, safe lever for almost everyone — start where you are and build up.
- Magazine round-ups sometimes mix a trainer's own numbers with a client's — we only used what was attributed to Reynolds' preparation.
- Celebrity transformations are short-term, supervised and often timed to a shoot. Sustainable progress is slower — and that is normal.
- Stop and see a doctor if you feel faint, unwell, or your relationship with food starts to feel stressful.

CHAPTER 7

4-week tracker

Count the days per week you managed each habit (0–7).

HABIT	W1	W2	W3	W4
Hit protein at every meal
Ate mostly whole foods
Drank 2–3 L water
Trained / walked
Slept 7+ hours
Weekly weigh-in / photo
