REPORTED BEAUTY ROUTINE · ALIA BHATT

The Barrier-First Minimalist Routine

Know your skin type, use fewer actives, and reach for pimple patches

SOURCED FROM PUBLISHED INTERVIEWS · NOT AFFILIATED OR ENDORSED

About this ebook

In a YouTube routine video, Alia Bhatt walked through a routine built around knowing your skin type and not overloading it with actives.

This ebook is an independent summary of publicly available interviews and articles. It is not affiliated with, authorised or endorsed by Alia Bhatt, their trainers, representatives, or any film studio. Names are used only to identify whose publicly reported routine is being described. Every reported fact is paraphrased and numbered to its source on the final page. Sections marked Valtair adaptation are our own general suggestions, not the celebrity's plan. This is general information, not medical, nutritional or dermatological advice — check with a qualified professional before changing your diet, training or skincare, especially if you are pregnant, take medication or have a health condition.

What was reported

1. In a video with her sister Shaheen, she stresses knowing your skin type so you can use targeted products.[1]
2. She has combination skin and sometimes dry patches around her mouth.[1]
3. Her skin became extremely sensitive during pregnancy, so she used gentle, soothing formulations.[1]
4. She says they both made the mistake of using too many actives together.[1]
5. She admits to picking at pimples — patches keep her hands off her face.[1]
6. Her routine includes a face mist, a peptide serum, a ceramide moisturiser, sunscreen and lip care.[1]

CHAPTER 2

The reported routine

Left: what was reported. Right: a budget-friendly equivalent (Valtair adaptation — no brand endorsements, choose what suits your skin).

STEP	REPORTED	YOUR VERSION
Mist	Face mist	A simple hydrating mist (optional)
Serum	Peptide serum	A lightweight hydrating or peptide serum
Moisturise	Ceramide moisturiser	Any ceramide-containing moisturiser
Protect	Sunscreen	Broad-spectrum SPF 30+
Lips	Lip care	Any nourishing lip balm
Spot care	Pimple patches	Hydrocolloid patches — hands off!

Products and steps reported at the time of the source articles; routines change.

Make it yours: by skin type

The same idea, tuned to your skin. General guidance only.

SKIN TYPE	ADJUST LIKE THIS
Oily / acne-prone	Gel cleanser; light non-comedogenic moisturiser; niacinamide or salicylic acid a few nights a week; matte SPF.
Dry	Cream or milky cleanser; richer ceramide moisturiser; hydrating serum (glycerin / hyaluronic); cream SPF.
Combination	Gentle gel-cream cleanser; lighter moisturiser on the T-zone, richer on dry areas; SPF every morning.
Sensitive	Fragrance-free everything; fewer steps; patch-test new products for 3 days on the jaw; mineral SPF often tolerated better.

INTRODUCE ONE PRODUCT AT A TIME

Wait about two weeks between new products so you know what is helping — or irritating.

CHAPTER 4

The lifestyle side

- Fewer actives, healthier barrier.
- Adapt during hormonal changes (e.g. pregnancy) — gentle first.

MORNING / NIGHT CHEAT CARD

MORNING	NIGHT
Cleanse (or rinse)	Remove makeup & SPF
Serum (optional)	Cleanse
Moisturise	Treat (optional)
SPF 30+	Moisturise

CHAPTER 5

Read this first: cautions

- Patch-test every new product or DIY mix on your jaw or inner arm for 24–72 hours.
- Celebrity skin is also shaped by professional facials, make-up artists, lighting and editing — be kind to your own reflection.
- Retinoids and strong acids: avoid during pregnancy unless a doctor approves, and always wear SPF.
- Kitchen ingredients (lemon, raw spices) can irritate; skip them if your skin is sensitive.
- Persistent acne, rashes or pigmentation deserve a dermatologist, not more products.
