REPORTED DIET & TRAINING NOTES · HENRY CAVILL

The Superhero Bulk & Lean-Out Plan

From a 5,000-calorie caped-hero bulk to fasted morning cardio for a monster-hunter role

SOURCED FROM PUBLISHED INTERVIEWS · NOT AFFILIATED OR ENDORSED

About this ebook

Henry Cavill has transformed his body for two very different roles — a caped superhero and a sword-wielding monster hunter. The reporting shows two phases: a big bulk, and later a leaner, fasted-cardio approach.

This ebook is an independent summary of publicly available interviews and articles. It is not affiliated with, authorised or endorsed by Henry Cavill, their trainers, representatives, or any film studio. Names are used only to identify whose publicly reported routine is being described. Every reported fact is paraphrased and numbered to its source on the final page. Sections marked Valtair adaptation are our own general suggestions, not the celebrity's plan. This is general information, not medical, nutritional or dermatological advice — check with a qualified professional before changing your diet, training or skincare, especially if you are pregnant, take medication or have a health condition.

CHAPTER 1

What was reported

1. While preparing to play Superman, Cavill was allegedly eating more than 5,000 calories a day.[1]

2. Bulking foods listed: protein powder, steak, eggs, chicken, coconut milk, heavy cream, yoghurt and fruit.[1]

3. While working with trainer Mark Twight, his supplements were reportedly limited to a multivitamin, fish oil, probiotics and magnesium.[1]

4. For The Witcher, his fasted cardio was reportedly 20 minutes at 125–135 beats per minute; he worked with trainer Dave Rienzi for that role.[1]

5. He told Men's Health in 2019: 'Out of all the things I've done in the past, I think the fasted cardio stuff is actually working best for me.'[1]

CHAPTER 2

A reported day

No complete daily menu has been published in the sources we used — so we are not inventing one. Below are the reported building blocks and training notes.

No complete daily menu was published in the source we used.

TRAINING NOTES

- Fasted cardio here means easy, low-intensity work (heart rate ~125–135) — not hard intervals on an empty stomach.

CHAPTER 3

The principles

Strip away the film budget, private chefs and trainers, and the reported approach comes down to a handful of repeatable rules. These are our plain-English take on them:

VALTAIR ADAPTATION

- Eat every 3–4 hours — 4 to 5 feedings.
- Aim for protein in every feeding.
- Use a shake or smoothie when appetite runs out.
- Increase portions gradually; check weight weekly.

PORTION GUIDE (HAND METHOD)

FOOD	PER MEAL
Protein	1–2 palms
Vegetables	1–2 fists
Carbs	1–2 cupped hands
Fats	1–2 thumbs

Smaller or less active? Use the lower number. Larger or training hard? The higher one.

Your 7-day plan

An original, everyday-budget week inspired by the principles — not the celebrity's actual menu. Indian-kitchen friendly; swap freely.

Style: Lean-bulk, 5-meal week

Day 2	Paratha (less oil) + curd + eggs	Sprouts chaat + nuts	Fish / tofu, potatoes, salad
Day 3	Upma + boiled eggs + milk	Greek yoghurt + granola	Rajma chawal + chicken / paneer tikka
Day 4	Dosa + sambar + eggs	Smoothie: milk, oats, banana, whey	Mutton / soya keema, rotis, veg

CHAPTER 6

Read this first: cautions

- 5,000+ calories a day was for a film bulk; most people need far less.
- Fasted cardio isn't required for fat loss — total intake and consistency matter more. Skip it if it makes you dizzy or you have blood-sugar issues.
- Celebrity transformations are short-term, supervised and often timed to a shoot. Sustainable progress is slower — and that is normal.
- Stop and see a doctor if you feel faint, unwell, or your relationship with food starts to feel stressful.

4-week tracker

Count the days per week you managed each habit (0–7).

HABIT	W1	W2	W3	W4
Hit protein at every meal
Ate mostly whole foods
Drank 2–3 L water
Trained / walked
Slept 7+ hours
Weekly weigh-in / photo
